Craft: Handprint Tree

Using paint, markers, colored pencils, etc. and some paper, make your favorite tall tree using your child's arm as the trunk. Start by painting or tracing your child's arm and have them paint and/or draw and color the rest depending on what supplies you have on hand. How do the trees look outdoors right now? Do you have an orange or lemon tree in your yard that you can pick some fruit from and smell the fruit and blooms?

Literacy: Letter N Hunt

Find a magazine or paper in your household and grab a timer. Set the timer for five minutes and have your child search for words in the publication that include the letter "N" and write the words in a column below. If they have a capital "N" they get written in the first column. If they have a small letter "n" they get written in the second. Perhaps they have an older sibling or parent that wants to help or see who can find the most words?? Keep it fun as this can be challenging!

Science: Shadows

Shadows are everywhere! In your house or outside, find some shadows or make your own. These can be traced onto paper, colored and cut out as well. Do you have flashlights? How can they be used to make shadows? Have fun being creative!

Outdoor Activity: Chalk the Walk

Outside with your family, draw some happy pictures and write some happy words for your neighbors who may take a walk later.
